Report Two New Invasion Casualties

Arlington Heights sells $318,000 war loan bonds

"It can be done in Arlington Heights," was the determination of 5th war bond workers over the week end. "It will be done," was the answer that was given by the individuals and business firms and corporations.

Result—a jump in bond sales from $138,000, announced in last week's Herald to $318,000. Arlington Heights went over its quota in previous war loan drives. Total bond sales in the present war loan drive exceed the quota figures. However, strictly speaking, sales to corporations are not supposed to be included. Thus Arlington Heights "has" and "has not" met its quota.

Sales of series "E", "F", and "G" will continue to the end of July and it is hoped that they will be sufficient to reach $200,000 which would mean a total bond sale of over $400,000—a record of which the community can be proud.

The sale of the negotiable series of the 5th war loan bonds closed Saturday night. An extra effort was made by the committee to interest local people who might be interested in those series and the larger part of the spurt last week end was in those series.

Individual purchases as of Saturday night were $98,974. Purchases, including allocations by firms operating in Arlington Heights, totaled $219,077.38.

The drive for individual purchases will continue through the month of July. Reports on the Red, White and Blue slips will also be figured for all of July. Buyers who purchased bonds elsewhere are asked to sign one of such slips, obtainable at the bank, or from loan solicitors. Arlington Heights will receive credit for all purchases made by those who sign the slip.

Scout camp in first session

On July 2nd, eighty-one Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council left from the Grand Central station to attend the first session of the summer camping program at Camp Wabuningo. The camp is located on Duck Lake along one of the scenic drives taken from Whitehall, Michigan. Mr. Stanley Huntington, the Scout Executive, together with John Kraus of Troop 1 are with the boys assisting in the conducting of the program. They report that the Scouts are very busy and are making an excellent showing in the advancement program which is offered. Over the week end of July 8, Mr. Henry Giescke, Chairman of the Troop Committee of Troop 11 and Mr. Otto E. Harz, Chairman of the Council Camping and Activities Committee visited the camp and were very favorably impressed with the facilities which the camp offers.

These Scouts will return from camp on Sunday, July 16, on which date the following Scouts will open the second session at Camp Wabuningo: Troop 7, Arlington Heights—David Kurtz, Bernard Brock, Richard Morrow; Troop 9, Palatine—Donald Gage; Troop 32, Arlington Heights—Robert Cubley.

Fireman make short work of two fires

Arlington Heights firemen suggested several months ago that fires be bunched. They were last Friday afternoon, a half hour apart. The first was within a garage in Stonegate where a bale of straw caught fire resulting in $50 damage. A half hour later an old wooden building near West Campbell street, owned by Fred Siemro, was "saved from wrecking" by the firemen.

School treasurer vacations in Canada

Geo. K. Volz, Wheeling township school treasurer, has vacationed about every place in the United States and with gas rationing had to do some sleuthing in order to find a new place to go. He found it in Canada.

Accompanied by his daughter, Donna Marie, he left by train for Toronto where he boarded a boat that is traveling up the St. Lawrence river to Squeanay river which will be followed as far as navigation permits.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS BOND SALES

Quota for purchases by individuals based on the total of population and average rental in Arlington Heights ..... $312,000.00
Sale to individuals in Arlington Heights through July 8 ..... $ 56,597.50
Purchased by individuals elsewhere as reported on red, white and blue slips ..... 48,376.90
Total purchases by individuals ..... 98,974.40
Total corporate purchases including allocations by firms operating in Arlington Heights ..... 219,077.38
Total individual and corporate purchases ..... $318,051.78
This is almost $100,000 over the total for the Fourth War Loan Drive.

Prospect Heights first community to meet quota

Prospect Heights does it again! For the fifth consecutive time, the community of Prospect Heights has exceeded its quota in the war loan drives, and this time has reached $34,953.50, 112 percent of its $30,229 quota, with still several weeks to go until the drive is over.

Last week, according to the "bond-ometer" placed in a conspicuous window of the Prospect Heights pharmacy, only 36 percent of the quota had been realized. Now, only one week later, 112 percent has been reached. This is a sudden change and can be attributed to two important factors, which predominate in every drive that is held in the community. The first and foremost is the unceasing efforts of the hard working members of the war finance committee and the second is the complete cooperation of the community in helping make every drive a success.

This little community of approximately 300 families, with no financial institutions and a few local merchants, has oversubscribed its quota by individual purchases only which is what the treasury department has been stressing in every drive. This fact is unique in itself. Then, over half of the members of the committee have been working on every drive since the first one, one of the few groups who continue with the same personnel. Many change with each new drive that gets under way.

There are still many bonds to be accounted for and the end of the month should find the community with an even greater over-subscription.

Mt. Prospect bike race won by local man

Forty of the leading bicycle riders in the country competed in the annual 48 mile handicap race last Sunday. Several hundreds of people lined Busse avenue and Elmhurst road to witness this race run under ideal track and weather conditions. The racers circled a 16 mile route three times in little over two hours, averaging 25 miles an hour.

Bob Dunihue of Edison Park wheeled in finished first. Time, two hours, nine minutes and forty seconds. His handicap was nine minutes. His handicap was nine minutes. His handicap was nine minutes.

Art Lauf of Baltimore started from scratch, captured first place for the time of the race. Two hours, three minutes and twenty-five seconds.

The following contestants won trophies respectively for places: Bob Dunihue, Edison Park Wheelmen; Harman, Milwaukee; Dick Daly, Edison Park Wheelmen.

Elmer Baker, South Chicago; Ted Ernst, Edison Park Wheelmen; Paul Auch, Edison Park Wheelmen.

Monroe Nolan, Unattached; Art Lauf, Baltimore. The following won trophies respectively for time prizes: Art Lauf of Baltimore; Jim Lauf, Baltimore; Pierre De Vise, Washington, D. C.

Gene Portusini, Detroit. Mr. Frank Schott, president of the Edison Park Wheelmen wishes to express his appreciation to all the donors of trophies and the state and local police and friends for the fine road protection.

Robert Boeckh is spending two weeks at the Boy Scout camp at Worthington Pine, Elcho, Wis. His father, J. W. Boeckh enjoyed visiting him there over the week end.

Private blown out of landing barge; leg broken

Reports of the casualties of D day are arriving in Arlington Heights also there has been no official notice from the government regarding them.

Unofficial reports of one death and one injured were received Monday. It is hoped that there will be no other casualties among the local boys engaged in the opening of the present invasion. A number of letters from boys who participated in the fighting appear this week in "With Uncle Sam."

A dispatch from a hospital in England on June 28th stated that Private William Felker of 214 North Evergreen street, Arlington Heights, who is a member of the 29th Field auxiliary was injured June 7th at 9:30 in the morning, his landing craft hit a mine and he was thrown 50 feet. He suffered a fractured left leg. His only regret is that he did not have a chance to do any fighting.

News dispatches a week ago brought word of an arm wound received by Capt. Otto Masny, who received the distinguished service cross. He is recovering in a hospital.

Pre-induction exams given to local men

Arlington Heights selective service board 1 announced this week a new list of men to be forwarded for preinduction examinations. They are:

Lee Roy Voigt, Burlington, Wis.; Richard Fred Gathman, Palatine; William August Stanley, Palatine; Earle Hall Gordon, Jr., Prospect Heights; Clarence Henry Kuhl, Palatine.

Housing needs to be problem of post-war

Harold Willson, Arlington Heights realtor painted a picture this week of post-war building that will cause such a shortage of building materials that it will be as hard to get what you want in building appliances as to obtain a good two-inch beefsteak today, even if you have the points.

He based his opinion on an article that appeared recently in a trade paper. He told the Herald, "I can already see a post-war building demand that will be as great as will be the rush to buy automobiles."

The July issue of a business journal of engineering has a forecast of post-war building needs that reads in part as follows:

"Providing homes for newly formed families alone will require the construction of more than 800 thousand new non-farm residences each year during the first 6 years after the war."

"If the 4.7 million new families formed during the 10 years following the outbreak of war and the more than 1 million existing families which have no residence of their own are to be housed during the six-year period, substantially more than 800 thousand new dwelling units per year will be required."

"This estimate makes allowance for the nearly 1 million permanent family units built during the war period. But the total housing need is still greater, because there also are at least 4.2 million sub-standard dwellings which ought to be replaced. Actually, the accumulated non-farm housing need facing the nation during the six years after the war totals nearly 10 million new residential units."

"New homes were constructed at the rate of 515 thousand a year during the 5-year period, 1937-41, when nearly 9 million individuals were unemployed, on the average. In view of the fact that the demand for new dwellings is greater than ever before and since the savings at the command of the American people are by far the largest in history, it seems inconceivable that the rate of residential construction after the war would fail to rise above the depression level predicted by the NAREB."

In other words, if you intend to build a home after the war, place your order soon.

Arlington Cards win two more

Portage Park and Des Plaines lose to locals

The Arlington "Cards" traveled to Portage Park last Sunday morning and played a team representing Portage Park American Legion post, losing 9 to 0.

In the field in the first two innings the Arlington boys sparked, completing a double play in each inning. The third inning saw everything in the book happen.

Disqualified

Notice has just been received from the baseball committee of the Junior American Legion that the Portage Park team has been disqualified. It was found that six players on the team which played Arlington Heights last Sunday were overage and that all games so played are forfeited.

There were several varieties of errors, 5 hits, 2 walks, all in all amounting to 7 tallies for Portage Park. The remainder of the game was interesting and fairly well played.

The "Cards" suffered a relapse in hitting in this game. The only batter who spoiled Blecke, the Portage Park hurler's bid for a no hit game was Gene Stroker who dropped a Texas leaguer in short right center in the fifth inning. Blecke did not resort to the usual high school pitcher's form as he only struck out five men. He did have dazzling support in the outfield, especially on long balls hit by Aldrich and Thompson.

Arlington 5, Des Plaines 2

The "Cards" played their second game of the day last Sunday at home winning 5-3.

The game was not thrill packed as Robinson seemed to have complete control allowing 4 hits, 1 walk and striking out 15. Thompson and Varnak each produced two hits in this game.

Two players who have been vital factors for the "Cards" all season deserve recognition. "Ozzie" Aldrich in the course of a year has shown the greatest improvement, both in hitting and fielding, of any boy on the squad. Needless to say his "pepper" on the field is always "tops." Jerry Varnak has displayed team spirit and the fact that he wanted the chance to play ball he has when needed played outfield, second base, pitched and caught and done a good job at all times.

Four boys who have played Junior American Legion baseball during the past two years are now trying out for the baseball training camp run by the Chicago Cubs during the month of August. These boys report at Wrigley field once every five days during the month of July during which time eliminations are made. Three hundred boys are trying out for the camp and are reduced to 30 who are then fully equipped by the "Cubs" and practise daily. The school is conducted under "Wally" Roettger, former major league player and coach at the University of Illinois and Smilgoff, coach at Harrison Tech H. S. in Chicago.

Baseball school in third session at Arlington

The third session of the Arlington Heights baseball school takes place tonight (July 13) at Recreation Park. This week the younger boys who have been in attendance at the first two sessions will start to play a game starting at 6:00 p. m.

Those who have been spectators at the school have expressed the fact that they enjoyed watching the efforts of many boys who are 7th and 8th grade age. The coaches who have so willingly given their time and efforts have shown these boys the fundamentals of baseball in an effective way which has gained the maximum amount of response and effort.

A team has been formed from the boys 15 and under and their first home game was played last Sunday afternoon at the park. Boys who are interested should report to the park for practice. The practice dates will be announced at the school tonight.

Start work on Rockwell sewer

Residents along Rockwell street, Scarsdale, are jubilant over the start of work on the storm sewer the completion of which will mean dry basements to them. The Advance Construction Company started work Wednesday.

July 4 receipts exceed expectations; $6300

When it was evident July 4 that Arlington Heights was entertaining the greatest crowd in its history, not even the finance committee expected the receipts to pass $5,000. As this paper goes to press receipts are $6,350, which is $2800 greater than last year. It is too early for the finance committee to make a guess as to the exact figure of the profit, but it is almost certain that over $2000 will be added to the War Memorial Fund and nearly $1500 to the recreational fund.

In 1942 the receipts were $2950; in 1943 $3567. As soon as a definite report is ready, it is expected that action will be taken for the election of trustees to hold the Memorial Fund in trust until such time as a definite decision can be made as to its nature.

Co-operation did the job

Your committee, entrusted with directing the many activities in connection with the Fourth of July Celebration, wishes to express its sincere thanks to the various organizations and the many, many individuals who contributed generously of their money, time, and effort toward making the 1944 celebration the most successful event of its kind ever to be staged in Arlington Heights. Due to the magnitude of the undertaking, space does not permit the mention of each individual, without whose help the committee would have been unable to function. We are especially indebted to:

Mayor Goedke and the Village Trustees for their effective support. The Village staff, especially Wm. Luehring, rendered invaluable service.

Mrs. Orval Baldwin and the Arlington Heights Woman's Club and Mrs. Vernon S. Curtis, Jr. and the Bundles for America for a magnificent job in providing food and refreshment to some twenty odd thousand visitors.

The business and professional men and women and the many residents for their generous contributions.

Mrs. Chas. Poss, professionally known as Miss Naomi Cook, for the much appreciated vocal solos and community singing.

Mrs. Mitzlaff and her group for their contribution in entertaining an appreciative audience.

St. Mary's Band for a fine program of entertainment.

Richard Jahn and the Firemen's Organization for quenching the thirst of a mighty throng.

Mrs. Clyde Jones, Mrs. Harvey Daggett and the Legion Auxiliary, who, as always, were on hand with their corps of lady workers.

A. G. Cubley and M. Prellberg for the support of the Scouts and Cubs in the sale of tags, in planning the program of ball games and other athletic events, and in soothing the bruises at the First Aid tent.

Albert E. Goldthwaite and the Scarsdale Association for supplying many much needed workers. Also Mr. Richard Frasier and the Stonegate Association.

Henry Muller and the Trade and Civic Association for their assistance in getting the celebration under way.

George Jorgensen, Jack May and the American Legion who did an outstanding job in the operation of the Bingo Game and other concessions.

Christ Heckmiller and the Lions Club for their fine assistance on a number of concessions.

Francis Wilton and the Auxiliary Police for the efficient handling of a traffic and parking problem hitherto unknown in our village.

Paul Carroll and Robt. Swanson, the "Over and Under" team who have become somewhat of an institution at all village celebrations.

Carl Behrens, Julius Flentje, and Chief Skoog who made possible a grand fireworks display.

And, finally, to the hundreds of Arlington Heights citizens who gave so freely of their time and effort.

To you all, the Committee extends its very sincere appreciation. Your fine spirit of cooperation throughout weeks of preparation and during the three-day celebration has made our task a pleasant one. Through your effort Arlington Heights has gained invaluable prestige and has again demonstrated that it is truly the "City of Good Neighbors."

1944 Fourth of July Committee. E. H. Malzahn, Chairman.

Ford car stolen

The 1940 Ford owned by Herman F. Han, manager of Park Lane laundry, was stolen some time Tuesday. It was parked in front of the Poole garage, Arlington Heights. Local police report other small thefts about town.

RATION DATES

Sugar No. 30, 31 and 32 valid, 5 lbs. no exp. date. No. 40 book 4, 5 lbs. for canning, exp. Feb. 28, 1945. Spare stamp No. 37 good at ration board for up to 20 lbs. for canning, to be given 10 lbs. in each period.

Arlington boy lost life on D-Day

A. B. Bunick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bunick, 122 South State road, Arlington Heights, was killed in the invasion of France June 6, "D" day.

Word of his death was first received by the parents Monday when they received a letter from Peggy Davy, an English girl, of whom their son had often spoken. The letter was dated June 27.

The family immediately got in touch with the Chicago Red Cross, which in turn contacted the Coast Guard, which confirmed the death. They had just received notice and had a man on his way to personally notify the parents.

The letter received from Miss Davy reads in part:

"Since your son has been in England we have grown very fond of him. Please try not to feel too badly about it. I know he wouldn't like to think you were grieving. Try to think how brave he was. He died for the country and the people he loved; his spirit was so cheerful and dauntless; you can be very proud of your son."

"I pray that God will give you courage and strength to smile and carry on during this terrible time. Our hearts go out to you all."

"I can't give you the details of your son's death because of censorship but I would like you to know that it was instantaneous and he didn't suffer. During the months he was in England he was very happy."

Austin entered service in June, 1942. After spending three months in the Merchant Marine, he was transferred to the Coast Guard. He had several weeks at home at that time. He has not been home since. Upon entering the Coast Guard Austin was sent almost immediately overseas to the theatres of war in Africa, Italy and England. Only previous injury was a burn received while in the Merchant Marine.

The last letter received by his mother was a Mother's Day card that arrived here May 22. Prior to entering the service he was employed by the Chicago & Northwestern at the Ravenswood office.

Cherries disappear while owners are at work

It was cherry week at Palatine last week when a loaded tree was completely cleared in a 2 1/2 hour period on Friday afternoon, while adults in the house were working at a local war plant.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bliss both work at Douglas, and at the present time are on different shifts at Douglas. While the two were gone between 3:30 and 6 o'clock Friday, the tree in the yard shed its cherries.

No limbs were broken and a ladder was used. It was obviously planned by someone who knew the family and their working hours.

Insurance head has anniversary in hospital

George F. Meyer, president of Mutual County Fire Insurance Co. of Mt. Prospect, celebrated his 25th wedding anniversary in the St. Francis Hospital, Evanston.

He was picking cherries when a limb broke and the ladder hit his right leg, breaking it right beneath the knee.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer recently sent out invitations to an open house on Sunday in honor of their 25th anniversary.

This is not the first accident for Mr. Meyer. He previously had an arm and a leg broken.

The wonderful human machine

by C. W. LUSSMAN
of Sieburg Pharmacy

The marvelous robots of the Machine Age amaze us with their magic tricks. The photo-electric cell, for instance, is a genie straight out of Arabian Nights.

None of these marvels, however, equal the wonderful composition of the human machine. Infinitely complex, splendidly coordinated, the human body can stand terrific punishment, considerable neglect and still recover and survive for the life span set by nature.

It is better to give it the dignified care it should have. This means a doctor's counsel and regular check-up. It means meticulous attention to proper medication, when needed, and this must be provided by a trusted druggist.

Vegetables

Cantaloup is the leading attraction in today's showing of food commodities, according to Joe Tonkin, federal food reporter for the war food administration. Over 150 cars of good quality melons were on track in Chicago yesterday. Heavy shipments of watermelons have added to the city's food supply along with peaches from Georgia, Arkansas, Tennessee and Illinois. Small fruits, too, are coming in for their share of culinary attention. Red and black raspberries v.e. with Michigan cherries for the shopper's favor. Early transparent apples continue to sell at, or near the ceiling. Carrots, Illinois snap beans and onion are all in good supply and selling at reasonable levels. Price tags are moderate on potatoes, high on cucumbers and lower on tomatoes. Michigan celery holds a featured place among the available salad vegetables, although supplies of that commodity from California are now reaching some local grocery counters. Along with celery, heavy supplies of lettuce offer good buys in anticipation of cool summer salads. Local grown leaf lettuce is teamed with the iceberg varieties from the Pacific coast to give added choice to the mid-week shopper.

Finally, a canning note about peaches. This year the United States will harvest its third largest peach crop on record—67½ million bushels, to be exact. This is 60 per cent above last year's crop (which, incidentally, was the smallest crop on record) and 17 per cent above the 10-year average. In other words, local housewives should have no trouble in securing peaches for home canning during the summer and early fall.

Stay-home Sundays

Inter-city passenger railway travel is forbidden on Sundays throughout Germany and the occupied areas of Poland and Czechoslovakia in order to make locomotives and crews available for handling freight traffic important to the war effort, according to a DNB dispatch reported by U. S. Government monitors.

Russians to buy

There has been much speculation about postwar trade possibilities but little that rings with the authenticity of the report by Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States who reports from Moscow that the Soviet government plans huge purchases of U. S. goods at the conclusion of the war. From Mr. Johnston's report it is assumed that the Russians are prepared to buy many billions of dollars worth of American goods at the end of the war. This report is encouraging to American manufacturers who have been somewhat dubious about what their export position will be after the war. The needs of the global war have spread the fame of American manufactured goods throughout the world. This promises dividends in future business that will undoubtedly play a large part in our postwar economy.

New cars

OPA announces that the stock of 30,000 new cars yet remaining in the U. S. July 1 was the equivalent of a three day's normal supply, and 7,000 have been allocated for July rationing. T gasoline coupons marked "second quarter," issued as special rations and which do not expire until after June 30, may be exchanged for third quarter T coupons.

WPA says two-tone shoes with other than leather soles may be made beginning September 1. Full responsibility for rationing and distributing new trucks, tractors, trailers and other commercial vehicles to essential users has been transferred to the Office of Defense Transportation. Dry cleaners report urgent need of wire garment hangers because paperboard hangers have proved costly and impracticable.

Milk cans

WFA says—farmers and dairies may now purchase new milk cans for handling milk and milk products without purchase certificates. Government reserves of canned fish from the 1944 pack have been increased because of increased war requirements.

Before DDT, the new insecticide, may be recommended for general use for agricultural purposes many more tests must be completed as to its effects on insects, plants and higher animals, the department of agriculture says. Despite shoe rationing, the American people have bought an average of 3.2 pairs of rationed and unrationed shoes annually more than consumers in any other country.

Lend-lease

The United States sent almost 2,000,000 tons of lend-lease supplies to the Soviet union in the first four months of this year, or a total of 10,400,000 tons since the beginning of the Soviet aid program in October, 1941. Since 1941, shipments included 10,000 planes, 5,000 tanks and tank destroyers, 210,000 military trucks, 40,000 jeeps, more than 30,000 other military motor vehicles, 900,000 miles of field telephone wire and approximately 300,000 field telephones. Other items sent in quantity were army boots, food, railroad rails, steel and non-ferrous metals and alloys.

Watermelons

Ceiling prices have been established by OPA on watermelons, alfalfa hay, sweet peppers and hot-house cucumbers, none of which had been under nationwide retail price control. Retail watermelon prices should decline substantially from last summer's figures. Alfalfa producers per ton ceiling prices range from $19 to $26.50. Ceilings on sweet peppers and hot-house cucumbers represent reductions at retail. OPA also has set maximum prices for the 1944 crop of red and black raspberries, dewberries and blackberries.

5 cent coffee

For the first time, public eating and drinking places will be covered by a national restaurant regulation July 31, when they must post their April 4-10, 1943, base period ceiling prices for 40 basic menu items served. However, a cup of coffee with sugar and cream may sell for no more than a nickel at any establishment that did not charge more than a nickel for it October 4-10, 1942.

Jap precautions

Tokyo is intensifying its air raid defense, according to the Japanese Domei agency. Construction of 5,000, pre-fabricated emergency houses has started under the auspices of the Tokyo air defense board. The houses are planned to be "readily transportable." A room nine feet square, "sufficient to lodge a family of four or five," can be built "by two persons in 15 minutes," Domei says.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Lincoln Crane

Laura Elizabeth Crane (nee Whiting) was born March 7, 1863, at Elk Grove, Ill., the daughter of John B. and Lucinda Whiting.

She departed from this life on Friday, July 7, 1944, at the age of 81 years and four months.

Her early childhood was spent at Elk Grove and Arlington Heights where she attended school. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church since May 14, 1890.

On January 28, 1891, she was united in marriage with Lincoln Crane and to this union there were born five children.

She leaves to mourn her departure her devoted husband, Lincoln Crane of Arlington Heights, and four children: Elmer W. Crane of Arlington Heights, Clara L. Goodrich of Marceline, Mo.; Jessie V. Hastings and Clifford M. Crane of Arlington Heights, two daughters in law, two sons in law, one granddaughter, two grandsons, several nieces and nephews and a host of other relatives and friends.

The family moved to Arlington Heights, Ill., from Winterset, Ia., in September, 1903, and have resided in this community since that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on January 28, 1941.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star and the Royal Neighbors of America.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m., Monday, July 10, 1944, at Lauterburgs & Oehler's chapel. Interment in Arlington Heights cemetery.

Edward Vana

Edward Vana, Sr., was stricken with a heart attack at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Spillar, S. Parkway, Prospect Heights, on Monday evening and was rushed to the hospital where he died at 2:30 a. m.

He is survived by his widow, Marie, his daughter and two sons. Services will be held Friday, July 14, and interment will be at Woodlawn.

CARD OF THANKS

The kindness and sympathy of neighbors and friends in our recent sorrow will always remain with us a precious memory. Our sincere thanks and gratitude for those comforting acts.

Lincoln Crane and Children.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks for the kindness of friends and expressions of sympathy received in our bereavement.

Mrs. Emma Rennack,
Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Joers
Children of Mrs. Pohlman.

Mrs. John Kent and son, Christopher, left for Toledo Tuesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Elmer Chambers. Another sister, Mrs. Emery Kirkpatrick of New York, will be at the Chambers home.

See small corn crop this year

C. A. Hughes, Cook County Farm Bureau sees a small corn crop throughout the larger part of the nation this year. This is especially true in this part of Illinois where the present dry spell has come at a very inopportune time.

"The only remedy will be a good rain and a late fall. Otherwise the supply of feed will be very limited," states Mr. Hughes.

Mrs. E. J. Schmidt had as a week-end guest Miss Harriet Amundsen of Chicago.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Sacrament" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 9.

The Golden Text was, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalms 51: 10).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Then cometh he to a city of Samaria . . . There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water. . . Jesus saith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father . . . But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth" (John 4: 5, 7, 21, 23).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus' history made a new calendar, which we call the Christian era; but he established no ritualistic worship. He knew that men can be baptized, partake of the Eucharist, support the clergy, observe the Sabbath, make long prayers, and yet be sensual and sinful . . . We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity. Worshipping through the medium of matter is paganism . . . The true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth" (pp. 20, 140).

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Nagel of N. Douglas Ave., expect their son, Konnie, will be able to come home from Presbyterian hospital this week.

Attention! All Home Canners!

Before you begin your 1944 canning, Good Housekeeping Magazine advises you: use the boiling-water bath method for tomatoes and fruits, only. Can all vegetables except tomatoes by the correct use of a pressure cooker to be sure of killing botulinus germs. In the last few years, cases of botulinus food poisoning have cropped up in widely different parts of the country. Buy, borrow, share a pressure cooker — but don't can low-acid vegetables any other way. If you want further information, write Good Housekeeping Magazine, 959 Eighth Avenue, New York 19, N. Y.

Returns from Joliet stoker conference

H. P. Kieskowski, of the Arlington Heating & Sheet Metal Co. has returned from Joliet where he attended a sales meeting of Winkler stoker distributors and representatives from northern and central Illinois and Lake county, Ind.

Full cooperation with the government's fuel conservation program was outlined by Herman E. Winkler, executive vice-president, and Claude A. Potts, vice-president of the U. S. Machine Corporation, Lebanon, Ind., which manufactures Winkler stokers.

"An estimated shortage of some 37 million tons of coal this winter constitutes a mandate to our industry to sell and install all of the stokers produced," said Mr. Winkler. He read from government reports to show that one out of every six stokers installed in 1943 was a Winkler and showed that this record has been bettered considerably in the current year.

Stoker installations can prevent industrial production curtailment and are urged by the War Production Board as a means of conserving coal supplies, man hours and transportation, said Mr. Potts. Stokers are considered so vital to the war effort that the WPB is approving Class A stoker applications to convert hand-fired heating plants using 25 tons or more of coal per year, he pointed out.

T. N. Gadbois of Galesburg, Winkler district sales manager for northern and central Illinois, said that while Illinois leads all states in the number of stokers installed, the field has scarcely been tapped now that conversion of 25-ton jobs are being approved.

H. K. Lees, Winkler sales manager for northeastern Illinois, exclusive of Chicago and Lake county, Ind., cited instances where Winkler stokers had saved more than one-third of the normal fuel consumption. He stressed the value to building owners of the free engineering and heating plant surveys offered by all Winkler distributors, including the local firm, Arlington Heating & Sheet Metal Co.

The meeting, held at the Woodruff hotel, closed with a dinner at which Al H. Wynkoop, public relations director of the U. S. Machine Corporation, was principal speaker.

Mrs. Anna Cavanaugh, So. State Rd., is visiting her daughter, Evelyn, who is a WAC stationed at Washington, D. C.

Her canning equipment she didn't assemble
She must wash jars that she forgot
While all her foodstuffs stand and rot.

Follow time chart faithfully

Gabbie Gertie all saucer-eyed
Forgets to consult her canning guide
You can find out later who's convalescing
So hang up, Gert, your canner's processing.

Make sure that jars are sealed

Good Mrs. Bustle who canned with great zeal
Hit the all time high for imperfect jar seal
With tears in her eyes, clothespin on her nose
Out to the garbage with canning she goes.

YOU AREN'T A BOTTLENECK BERTHA, OF COURSE . . .

Railroad men to communicate over special phones

Two way telephone communication on moving trains, without using radio which requires a definite wave length assignment, will be introduced on the Milwaukee road next month, when a series of tests will be made to insure that such communication will facilitate safe and speedy operation, according to an announcement by the Chicago offices of the railroad.

By utilizing electronic principles that involve the rails, and the wires paralleling the tracks, locomotive engineers and conductors may talk with each other as well as with crews on other trains in the vicinity, and with wayside towers and stations.

Known as the "Union inductive train communication system," a result of 25 years of research and development by the Union Switch and Signal company in conjunction with railroads, telephone conversations are not broadcast, but confined to the immediate vicinity of the rails over which the trains are operating, and without interference with any other communication facility.

The inductive system is expected to function successfully on the Milwaukee's western divisions, where giant electric engines haul trains, necessitating high voltage power lines along the right of way, and where many tunnels are located, both of which are obstacles to dependable radio operation.

The first tests will be conducted on the Milwaukee road's divisions between Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis, according to the announcement.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Eleanor:

Of course, you feel bad because Davy cut Charlotte's "golden crown," but she doesn't care one whit—being a young lady of but two summers. A happening like that would be a major catastrophe if she were 13, wouldn't it? I can remember how fussy you and I were about our appearance at that strange age! I must be having my second childhood, for now I'm only happy when I'm wearing a pair of faded blue slacks, and have my hair pinned in a knot on the top of my head.

Reading about the escapades of your youngsters kept me laughing, and assures me that they are conducting themselves in quite a normal manner, but it's pretty tough on Mamma now and then, isn't it? I think if I could ask one favor of the Good Fairy, I'd ask her to give all mothers a super-colossal sense of humor. I think you'll find when you've been married as long as I, that the very things that irritate you when the children were young, are the ones you'll keep remembering with interest and amusement later on.

Maybe it is the passing of this year's Fourth of July—whatever the reason, I've been thinking of old houses and furnishings in a historical light. I've been thinking a good deal about the meaning of the Fourth to us Americans, and why it should just naturally follow that those of us who like old things would have a "dream house" that reflects the glorious heritage that is uniquely American.

As a young nation the mellowness that only age can bring was not a part of our makeup. At times we envied other lands their maturity, so we sailed the seas in eager search for culture. We brought back mementos of every sort, antiques of every nature from furniture to whole painted rooms. We wanted that "old" look at whatever cost.

For a time we were content among our borrowed ancestors. But not for long. We found that we, too, as a nation had matured. We had a culture of our own. There was charm and beauty in our own old houses, though in many cases there was neglect, too. So we got busy, (I think one of our American characteristics is the ability to tackle something long abandoned as hopeless and make it "work" again.)

We began to take an interest in these old houses that had fallen to rack and ruin. We realized that inside their battered exteriors lay the spirit upon which our nation was founded. We began to feel the same way about the early furnishings of our forebears. We discovered that their pieces were chosen for their usefulness as well as beauty, and a great love was born in our hearts.

Many times I find myself wishing that Rob and I could have the privilege of owning one of the 17th century houses in Pennsylvania, but too many others have passed that way before us, and even if there would be one left for us, and even if we could go there, and even if we had the money, and even, Oh, well, what's the use of such pipe dreams? I'm afraid we'll have to be contented with an old middle-west farm house where within its walls, we can do our bit to keep alive the ideals so symbolic of our country's home-loving past.

Eleanor Milstead writes charmingly in a letter to me this week, (I wish I could quote every word of it, perhaps, I should forward the letter in its entirety to you.) "Not so long ago, I read an article in one of the national house and garden magazines. I can not recall exactly but its author, a lover of antiques said, in essence, that she did not like modern houses nor modern furniture because she could not leave her old darling basket or imagine having anything flung around without feeling as if she had persistently neglected to comb her hair. Maybe the reason I agree with her is that I can not imagine keeping or living in a house that was always in order. I like a dog sprawled across a braided rug (Spot, you can chew on the ones I didn't

How about you?

Mary and Eleanor, corresponding editors of Life With Mother, have launched a discussion of Traditional Architecture and Old Furniture versus Contemporary Architecture and Modern Furniture. What are your opinions? Which type do you prefer? Mail your letter to Mary or Eleanor, care of this paper. Names may or may not be mentioned, depending on the reader's desires.

make) and evidence of my family being with me in every room. I like the handwork in old quilts and coverlets and the color in old glass. I like the sound of pony bells and the gold rich brown of Bennington mugs and pie plates. I like our old rope bed (now that it is braced) and the school master desk in my son's room (even if his pencil does roll off its slant top.) I like the wooden chopping bowl I keep my fruit in and copper pans in the kitchen. I like our old spare-lined black Boston rocker and my grandmother's dough box. I like them for U.S. Home Furnishings to me is like religion—each person must of his own, reject and add, and love and labor until it suits him, his family and their way of living."

"After the war, is there going to be an all-glass house?" is the question that was put to Mr. H. B. Higgins, vice-president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company. This is his answer: "Frankly, we don't think so. Unquestionably glass will be more widely used. The day of the city house—crowded against its neighbor with only a few feet of grass and having small, dark windows—has passed. Houses are opening up. People want to spread out and enjoy their love of the land. The employment of large glass areas in exterior walls for light and visibility and on interior walls for decorative purposes is constantly increasing. But the controlling factor in home design is in the hands of the home builder himself, he is the one who will decide what kind of homes future America will live in."

Pursuant, as my husband would say, to our telephone conversation of the other day, on what kind of peace we will make after the war, I've been thinking that if we as a nation are to get along amiably with all the other nations as brothers, we ought to do some practicing on those people living on our own shores first. How in heaven's name are we going to get along with foreign minds and attitudes if we can't understand the attitudes and aims of the man next door?

Take this little village, its population is somewhere around 750, with 100 names posted on the Service men's roll of honor, yet only 38 individuals (mostly women) have thought enough about helping humanity to give a pint of blood to the Red Cross to help save the life of one of those men if they were seriously wounded in battle.

Maybe, I'm just too pessimistic, but I think most of the peace planners are forgetting that the human race is still being made up of people with various leanings and characteristics, and different backgrounds. We're not all cut from the same mold. I'm inclined to believe that the world will never conform to one pattern for all.

There's bound to be the selfish, as well as the unselfish. There will always be those who take that which is not rightfully theirs. There will always be those who scheme to keep everything for themselves. They are not interested in whether their neighbor's child has quarrel with milk every day. How could they be expected to be solicitous of the poor, starving children of Greece? These are some of the reasons why we have war. I hate to say it, but I believe, that as long as there are humans on the face of the globe, we will have wars.

Chicago V-mail station handles 126 million letters

The Chicago V-Mail station, 732 West Van Buren street, has handled 126,605,741 incoming and outgoing letters during the first seven months of operation, it was announced today at headquarters of the Sixth service command.

The station was activated November 1, 1943, and the first month processed 8,176,412 letters from overseas and dispatched 1,687,412 V-mail messages going abroad. The peak load occurred in May, the sixth month of operation, when 11,457,161 letters from soldiers in foreign theaters of operation were received at the Chicago station and 12,547,230 were filmed and sent to the armed forces by plane.

Strategic value of V-mail from the standpoint of saving critical transport space, is shown in a report from Major O. V. Rowe covering six months of activity. Major Rowe, commanding officer of the V-mail station, says that the volume of mail handled here would weigh approximately 10,000 tons, or the equivalent of one Liberty ship loaded. But films upon which this original V-mail was photographed weighed approximately 10 tons and would reach about 1,200 miles in one continuous strip.

out a book this month called "The Great Decision." It was written by the director of the Carnegie endowment for international peace and professor of the history of international relations at Columbia university. From the foreword of the book, I quote: "Our victory over the Axis powers can be made a victory over war itself, if we bring to the support of peace the same kind of realistic strategy we devote to war." When I've finished this book by James T. Shotwell, I may have a more optimistic outlook. I sincerely hope so.

I'll be looking forward to your next letter with great expectancy. Those books you are reading, to judge from their titles, should give forth a wealth of material on contemporary houses and furnishings.

With love to all at Shady Rest, Mary.

Noted Czech conductor heads Ravinia week

The Ravinia Music Festival's origin, is making his debut at the fourth week, which begins Tuesday evening (July 18), will be highlighted by the appearances of George Szell, noted Czech conductor; Rudolph Serkin, pianist; Kerstin Thorborg, mezzo-soprano; and John Garris, Tenor.

The week's schedule also includes the first Chicago performance of William Grant Still's "In Memoriam: The Colored Soldiers Who Died for Democracy," a new work by the well-known colored composer which was first played January 5, 1944, by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Artur Rodzinski.

Szell, who returns to Ravinia this summer for his fourth season's engagement, has won a wide following during his previous appearances here. Serkin, internationally known pianist, who is also of Czech origin, is making his debut at the Ravinia concerts this week. Thorborg and Garris, both stars of the Metropolitan Opera company, are also newcomers to Ravinia, who have gained fame in this country and abroad.

In addition to the Still composition the Ravinia programs for the week include a number of unusual features, chief among them the Mahler "Song of the Earth," a Symphony for tenor, contralto, and orchestra, in which Thorborg and Garris will sing in English, at the Thursday evening (July 20) concert. The Saturday evening concert with Serkin as soloist, and Szell as conductor, will be given over entirely to Beethoven, with the Overture to "Fidelio" Opus 72, "Symphony No. 2, D Major, Opus 36" and "Concerto for Piano, No. 5, E Flat" scheduled for that evening.

Just Around the Corner

By Eleanor Milstead

Don't you think it's marvelous to see all the good fun that splashes and grins and shouts itself all over our Arlington Heights swimming pool? All the "watch me, moms" and the "just one more jumps" and the "betcha can't do thises" and all the lovely glistening brown bodies.

That dead weight in your heart, that sense of deep injustice is missing the 18 to 26 year olds who used to dive so magnificently from the high board and the knowledge that some of them have taken their last long plunge and others their last unaimed ones. There are so many little boys and girls. Seeing them there, happy, young, unafraid somehow bulwarks those vows you've made to try to keep war from taking their shining generation too...we can keep trying.

For a lark some day how would you like my social items to run like this:

Mrs. John Jones boiled and boiled and she still doesn't know what to do with that extra cherry juice unless she just stores it away for a punch foundation.

Because of the stupidity of his mother who didn't have the will to insist that he put his shoes on Ken M. Jr. ran a nail in his foot Monday (I knew he was taking rusty nails out of an old box too, doggone it).

Mrs. Henry Smith left the gas heater on all afternoon at her house Friday. Do you remember when Eeyore in the Pooch book says with bottomless pity, "No brains, you know, just fluff."

Mr. So and So was so hungry after his Sunday afternoon swim that he ate FOUR hamburgers and drank three of those big malted milks. And his wife just sat and watched him.

Well, I think it would be a lark. Life with a newspaper is never dull. I've been asked to locate furniture, tricycles, vacuum cleaners, and maids. I've done all right except on the maids. That's because there aren't any!

Am I just a weak sister or do all dog owners feel the way I do when I tie Spot to the clothes line and try to turn my back on his baleful lonely face. Sometimes there are places you have to go where you can't take a dog, now aren't there?

Going back to the four hamburgers, a young Marine friend of ours ate three club sandwiches and drank more than a quart of milk at Hrdicka's the other evening. Is there anything more glorious than a healthy appetite?

This week I'm really going to enjoy writing about Mrs. Maud K. Parker. Sunday afternoon we visited. She sparkles so. We hooted together over a picture of a mama in a magazine who was asking her young son to say "excuse me" to a woman he had just plastered in the face with a big piece of pie. And she thought my joke about the kidleys was funny. Honestly, I don't like anyone who doesn't. So don't ever let me find out if you don't go into hysterics over this one.

"A man walked into a meat shop. 'Give me a quarter's worth of kidleys,' he said. 'Kidleys?'" puzzled the butcher. 'Kidleys,' repeated the customer.

"Oh," probed the meat man. "Oh, you mean kidneys, don't you?"

"Well!" persisted the buyer, "said kidleys, diddle L." Please, please, no polite smiles or blank stares if you're a friend of mine.

The Northwest Amateur Radio Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Marshall Sherrill, Salem street.

Judge W. L. Parkinson of Circuit Court of Tippecanoe County, wife and daughter Ruth Ann of Lafayette, Indiana, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mills. Judge Parkinson is the nephew of Mr. Mills. Judge and Mrs. Parkinson will return home Saturday. Ruth Ann will remain until the end of July.

Miss Jane Anne Klingel of St. Paul is visiting Mrs. George W. Pope of South Vail.

Girl scouts take care of flowers in Heights parks

"A Girl Scout's duty is to be useful and to help others" is the third law of Girl Scouting. In these days of manpower shortage, Troop 3 of the Girl Scouts of Arlington Heights wanted to be useful to their village. They volunteered their services to the Park board to plant and care for the flower beds at the Field house, and the beds and the urns near the station.

Under the direction of Mrs. W. N. Walton and Mrs. K. W. Kennedy, they surveyed the village, reporting where flowers could be planted to advantage. They divided into groups, and each group took the responsibility for certain areas. Color schemes and problems of height and growing habits were carefully worked out. Plants and seeds were purchased from troop treasury funds which the girls had earned.

Then the hard work began. The plots had to be spaded and prepared, plants and seeds put in, water hauled for considerable distances in pails and watering cans.

Evelyn Brockmann guest at shower

Evelyn Brockmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brockmann, Palatine road, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given last Thursday evening by her cousin, Mrs. Arnold Brockmann. Thirty-five guests enjoyed luncheon, prizes were awarded and refreshments were served. Evelyn will become the bride of Pfc. Kermit J. Heinz, stationed at Camp Polk, La., on Saturday, July 22nd at 3:30 p. m. at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Palatine.

Joan Leckband is taking a six week art course at the Art Institute of Chicago this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurin are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Robert Schneberger, this week.

Joan, Judy and Kay, daughters of Paul Christman are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Christman in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy's mother and sister and the Kennedy children saw "Okiahoma" Saturday afternoon.

Alberta Hines of South Dunton avenue is visiting relatives in Milford, Conn., during the month of July.

Local girls to New York camp

Miss Carolyn H. Kamphenkel and Miss Perrene Pingle are in Dunkirk, N. Y., taking part in the activities of the Youth leadership camp there which is one of more than 30 such camps sponsored in this country by the Evangelical and Reformed churches of the United States. The camp is on Lake Erie about 40 miles from Buffalo. It opened on June 26th and will close for the year on August 19.

Mrs. Adeline Erb and daughter Marie from Albuquerque, New Mexico, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Muller of Fremont St. Mr. Wm. Erb will join them Monday for a week's visit here, after which they will return to New Mexico.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weidner of Chicago was christened Thomas at the St. Teclas church in Chicago on Sunday, July 9th. Mrs. Weidner is the former Dorothy Friedrichs.

Mr. Clarence Schuette will be working in the Jewell food store at Des Plaines for two weeks. He will return to his place behind the meat counter in the Arlington Heights Jewell store at the end of that time.

Thursday, Field House, 10 to 4 and 7 to 10.

Thursday, St. James 10 to 5.

Christened

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bech of Chicago had their infant daughter, Marilyn Francis, baptized Sunday, June 13th, at the Queen of Angels church in Chicago. Mrs. Wm. Bech is the former Elinor Friedrichs.

Dr. and Mrs. Leckband's niece Sylvia Ann Meff, from Evansville, Indiana, is visiting here for a week or two. Mrs. Leckband and her two sons, Garwood and Richard will return to Evansville with her for a vacation. Dr. Leckband's oldest son, Norbert, is spending this summer in Ocheydon, Iowa, with his uncle, Mr. O. Leckband.

The Frank Meyer family of North Evergreen street entertained Mrs. Lorraine Gilkey from Des Plaines and Miss Marva Jean Gilkey from Columbus Junction, Iowa, Saturday. Tuesday evening they enjoyed a beach supper party with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meyer of Rogers Park at Lake Michigan.

Mrs. A. D. Foster of Port, Indiana, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Edward McElhose.

Miss Lorraine Woodyatt, with four girls from the Hinckley and Schmidt office of Chicago, spent an enjoyable week end at Twin Lakes, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Louis Smith, who is visiting at her mother's, Mrs. H. J. Thal, entertained at a luncheon Tuesday noon.

Otto Adam of N. Evergreen Ave., who was injured by a fall from a scaffold at Park Ridge, returned home Saturday from the Des Plaines hospital.

OES notes

On Thursday evening July 13th, Arlington Heights chapter of OES will hold its stated meeting and initiation following a pot luck supper at 6 o'clock for members and their families. Bring your favorite dish and your own bread and butter. Coffee and cream only, will be furnished by the chapter.

A good attendance is desired as this is the last meeting until August 24 when the chapter will convene and entertain the worthy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star of Illinois and her official family.

Members please remember to bring banks with your money from the grease and salvage you have sold. If unable to bring or send them, please call the committee chairman, Florence Luckner, phone 927J, or Inez Sharp, phone 776W.

The Eastern Star has sold to date over $30,000,000 in bonds and stamps. Members do not forget to see that the Order of the Eastern Star is put on each bond order given to your bank, post office or with whoever the transaction is made, so that the order will receive credit.

Miss Celia Hausman entertained the Girls' club Friday evening, July 7. August first, she will be hostess to the past worthy matrons club.

American Legion auxiliary notes

August will soon be here and some one will be the lucky person to draw the Auxiliary quilt at the Legion carnival. If you have not already written your name in a quilt book, now is as good a time to do it as any.

Lois Knaack attended girls' state at MacMurray college, leaving on June 22, returning on the 29th, filled with enthusiasm and with a better understanding of what makes the wheels go round in our state government. She is expecting to have two of her new acquaintances visit her this summer. One of the girls was elected to the office of lieutenant-governor.

To preach here

Dr. Kempf of the Lutheran Old Folks' Home in Arlington Heights will preach at the St. Peter Lutheran Church on Sunday, July 23. The Rev. A. Thornwald of the Lutheran Bethesda Home at Watertown, Wisconsin, will fill the pulpit here on July 16. The Rev. L. V. Stephan plans to be on vacation with his family for part of July.

Virginia

From Camp Pendleton, Virginia, comes word of John Annen of Arlington Heights.

"Well, here I am down in Virginia and it's just as hot as it was back there. The camp set-up seems to be fair—of course a big improvement over the last place (Aleutians).

"I really enjoyed being home, except that it was too short. However, another furlough for me seems to be in the offing in the my address on the Herald."

His address is T/5 John C. Annen, Btry. B 30th CA, Camp Pendleton, Virginia.

next month or two. Please change

Home on a three day pass from Camp Pickett, Virginia, was Jack Weise of Arlington Heights. He arrived in town Saturday and had to leave again Sunday night.

"But it was well worth it," said Jack. "It costs almost as much just to go to Richmond, including hotel and food, as it does to come home. There's never anything doing in Richmond."

Washington

Anne E. Osborn of Palatine of the WAVES concluded her training at the Aviation Instrument Maintenance School in Chicago and has been promoted to seaman 1st class. She had a short leave, part of which she spent with WAVE Dorothy McDonald in New York and the balance at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Osborn, Kennilworth Ave.

Anne is now assigned to a naval air base at Pasco, Washington, where she will put her knowledge to actual use.

Oscar Lawrence of Wheeling is now petty officer third class. Oscar graduated from the torpedo school at San Diego on Friday, June 30. He has been transferred to Key Port, Wash., where he will attend classes for several more months.

His wife accompanied him to Washington. They travelled along the coast and enjoyed a beautiful trip.

Pvt. Clarence F. Grewe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grewe of Campbell Ave., Des Plaines, graduated in class of 33 of the quarter master postal school last Thursday at Camp Lee, Virginia. These soldiers have the job of getting the mail through to the other service men and civilians. Clarence is now stationed at Seattle, Wash.

His address is Pvt. Clarence F. Grewe, 36954361, Emb. APO 100, E. Pike Street, Seattle 28-J-1, W. A. Ernsting, Clerk.

Rainbow division to meet July 14

The annual reunion of the Rainbow division veterans association, which was scheduled to be held in Chicago on July 13-15, has been canceled due to the national transportation problem. In lieu thereof the Illinois chapter, comprising the country's largest group of Rainbow veterans, will meet, in Chicago on the evening of July 14 at the Merchants and Manufacturers club in the Merchandise Mart to observe the champagne hour and install the new chapter officers.

Twenty-six years ago on July 14, 1918, the Germans opened what was to be their victory offensive in the Champagne area. Pacing them was the French 4th army to which the Rainbow division was assigned, the only American division in that area. The battle started at 11:45 in the evening. History records that the Germans failed in their attempt and from that moment on the initiative was with the Allies. This was Rainbow's first big battle although it had spent several months in the Lunerville and Baccarat trenches prior thereto. It suffered severe casualties.

Ever since that day Rainbow division veterans throughout the country have met on July 14 and at 11:45 in the evening have observed the champagne hour in which they pay homage to their departed comrades of the division.

Among the local Rainbow division veterans are: Wilbert K. Dodge, Leslie Moodie and Rudolph Rizzi of Arlington Heights. Dodge and Moodie were members of Battery E, 149th F. A. from Illinois, while Rizzi served in the 167th Infantry the Alabama unit.

Ernest M. Luckner, 309 Ioka avenue, Mt. Prospect, served in Battery D, 149th F. A. Illinois unit.

AIRCRAFT JOB AIDS INVASION SAYS SKILLED WORKER

Former Typographer Praises Work at Douglas As Way to Back Attack

Chicago, July 12—At this time when our country's fate is staked on the outcome of crucial invasion battles, the active support of every loyal citizen is needed. Buying bonds is one way of helping but another is to build the giant Douglas transport planes, according to Domenico J. Adorno, assistant foreman on the assembly line in the big, new Douglas Aircraft plant at Mannheim and Devon. Adorno was formerly a typesetter for a Chicago newspaper.

"At such a moment as this, I want to be in there fighting," Adorno said today. "That's why I couldn't enjoy any other kind of work. I'm happy here at Douglas because I have a job in which with my own hands I am helping to provide our soldiers with an essential tool for victory—these huge Douglas planes which carry men and weapons to the invasion front and rescue the wounded by bringing them back to medical care."

No Experience Needed
"Although I had never had any aircraft experience, it was easy for me to find a useful place in the family of Douglas workers. I was put through an interesting training course and was well paid while learning to become a skilled worker. We all enjoy our jobs here. Fellow workers are congenial and the surroundings are clean and pleasant. The food is inexpensive—and very good. We have recreation and entertainment, social diversion, and many other advantages, such as a vacation-pay plan and money-saving

Name head of state milkweed floss collection

Dr. Wm. I. De Wees, member of the Illinois State Normal university staff, has been appointed state supervisor of the milkweed floss collection program which is being used to gather milkweed floss for use in life jackets for servicemen.

Although actual collection of milkweed pods does not start until September, Dr. De Wees will work during the summer months contacting county war boards and organizing the campaign. He will have headquarters at I. S. N. U. normal, where he may be reached by mail or phone. His home address is 4 Clinton place, Normal, and his home telephone, Blooming-ton 9435-6.

The milkweed collection program is conducted in cooperation with War Hemp Industries, Inc., Petoskey, Mich. Milkweed floss is used in life jackets as a substitute for kapok, formerly imported from the East Indies, now held by Japan.

During the summer Illinois people, particularly boys and girls, will be organized for the fall job. They will be paid by the bag for their work which may save the life of a fighting man.

"Just how Cook county will be organized we do not know," states Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes. "That is not the important question. To get the pods of every milk weed in city lots, farm fence rows, along streams, in forest preserves, in swamps, is very important. Doubtless organization will be by school districts, and school children will be called on from villages to work in the country pulling these pods in September."

group insurance. Meanwhile we are earning excellent pay. Another important thing—we're being trained in aviation, one of the great basic industries in Chicago's future. A job at Douglas is anybody's best bet for serving country and self," Adorno said.

Easy to Apply For Job

It's easy to apply for a well-paid job at Douglas. Go to one of the branch offices at 4070 Milwaukee Ave. or at 2171½ Milwaukee Ave., open from 9:30 to 7 p. m. Or get information at U. S. E. S. offices at 5306 W. Lawrence Ave., 4207 W. Armitage Ave., 4812 W. Madison, or 807 W. Madison in Oak Park, all open from 9 to 5 week days. Or if convenient come direct to the Douglas plant at Mannheim and Devon Ave. Buses leave from Grand and Harlem, Belmont and 80th, Milwaukee and Devon, Irving Park and Narragansett, Milwaukee and Higgins, Diversey and Harlem, Addison and Cumberland, Higgins and Canfield, and Park Ridge or Des Plaines, Illinois.—Adv.

Cycles in hog numbers still operate - Norton

The June 1 pig survey of the United States Department of Agriculture indicates a 28 per cent smaller pig crop in 1944 than in 1943. The whole course of the wartime developments in connection with hogs indicates that the hog production cycle still operates, in the opinion of L. J. Norton, chief in agricultural marketing, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. "If the cycle runs true to form, receipts will fall off and prices will strengthen. The demand for corn will be reduced and the corn supply situation will become easier. The price relationship will become favorable to hog producers. These conditions may be expected to develop by next winter, assuming that we raise a good corn crop."

It is quite likely that demands for pork products will continue to be at least fairly good in 1945 because of demand for feeding liberated Europe and continuation of reasonably good demand conditions in this country. The smart hog producers will anticipate these demands and supply conditions, maintain their production, and be in position to cash in when the hog-corn price ratios become favorable. The rank and file will be slow to believe that the unfavorable conditions that have prevailed in 1944 are over, but based on past history will begin to expand again after conditions have been favorable for some time, Norton believes.

Hog production increased from 1941 to 1943 under stimulus of abundant supplies of feed and a favorable relationship between prices of hogs and corn. About a year ago, the rise in corn prices and the beginning of a down-turn in hog prices caused by increased supplies, made the price relationship less favorable. Also feed became scarcer. Some liquidation of breeding stock occurred last winter. This plus marketings from the very large 1943 crop have caused congestion in markets more or less continuously since December.

Higher prices mean better egg situation

The increase in egg prices in market centers should mean better prices to producers for eggs, according to L. J. Norton, chief in agricultural marketing, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Recently the price of eggs in marketing centers has advanced about three cents per dozen. On June 22 the price of "current receipts," that is, of ungraded eggs, was quoted in the Chicago market at 32½ to 33½ cents per dozen. A few weeks earlier the price had stabilized at about 29½ cents per dozen. This advance reflects a reduction in supply in commercial channels and eliminates the necessity of the government buying as many eggs in order to support a price of 27 cents a dozen to producers as required under the policy laid down by the Congress. In attempting to support the price of eggs, the War Food administration found it necessary to buy large quantities of eggs, some of which had to be diverted into livestock feed because of a shortage of storage space. When the price of current receipts was at 29½ cents a dozen, some country egg dealers were squeezed in attempting to meet the government support prices. But the rise in the price of eggs eliminates this squeeze, and it should bring an increase in price to producers.

"It is probable that the trend in egg prices from now on will be upward until the peak is reached early next winter. This, however, does not eliminate the desirability of carefully culling laying flocks in order to eliminate low-producing hens which are not paying their feed costs," Norton said.

Give suggestions on livestock diseases

Specially prepared vitamin supplements are ordinarily not required in the rations fed to farm animals, according to a recent statement from the department of animal pathology and hygiene, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. With certain exceptions, all vitamin requirements are met when livestock are exposed to sunlight and fed adequate amounts of home-grown feeds.

Stock at pasture or animals fed well-cured leafy hay will receive all the vitamin A that is needed. Calves too young to eat hay and growing poultry, especially turkeys, are not being fed rations containing alfalfa meal, often need some vitamin A supplement. The vitamin A requirement for turkeys is considerably higher than that for chickens. Exposure to sunlight in the summer and feeding properly cured hay in the winter usually insures an adequate supply of D, the so-called sunshine vitamin. As with vitamin A, young animals, for example, calves, pigs, puppies and growing poultry, often need special supplements of vitamin D, particularly during the winter months.

Farm animals fed home-grown feeds probably do not suffer from a lack of vitamin E, the so-called anti-sterility vitamin.

The present shortage of certain feed ingredients, improper selection of feeds and difficulties encountered in balancing rations, as well as such an unpredictable factor as bad weather for curing hay, may lead to vitamin deficiencies in certain classes of livestock on some farms. Veterinarians and farm advisers are able to assist livestock and poultry producers in correcting the rations when these deficiencies occur.

Animal Health

Is Related To Soil Fertility

Farmers recognize that their crop land yearly becomes more depleted in such minerals as calcium and phosphorus unless these elements are returned to the soil. However, they often overlook the fact that the feeding value of crops produced on soils low in minerals is not as high as that of crops raised on land adequately stocked with calcium, phosphorus and certain other minerals. Fertilization of the soil is therefore profitable not only because crop yields are increased but also because the grain and forage produced have higher feeding values and are more beneficial in maintaining health of animals than are crops produced on soil poor in minerals, according to University of Illinois scientists.

What To Do To Prevent Rabies

Severe outbreaks of rabies have been recognized in Illinois during the past year, according to animal pathologists, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Communities should take steps to see that stray dogs are removed from the streets, for they are the main source of the infection. Owners may have their pets vaccinated but should realize that vaccination provides no protection against the disease after one year. If a person is bitten by an animal suspected of being rabid, a physician should be consulted immediately and the animal placed under the observation of a veterinarian. The State Department of Agriculture renders assistance when outbreaks of rabies occur. Notify the state veterinarian at Springfield when a diagnosis of rabies is made in your locality.

Preventing Bloat

Authorities on animal diseases say for the prevention of bloat cattle and sheep should be kept out of clover, alfalfa and other luxuriant pasture until the dew is off. Feed some hay each morning before turning animals out to pasture. If an animal starts bloating, place a gag such as a broomstick or bridle bit in the mouth for temporary relief and call a veterinarian immediately.

Water, Salt And Rest Prevent Heat Strokes

This is the time of year for farmers to watch out for heat stroke among work horses. When a horse collapses on a hot day, heat stroke should be suspected. Relief can be given by the application of cold water and by the administration of salt solution under the supervision of a veterinarian. It is much better, however, to prevent heat strokes by frequent watering, providing plenty of salt and allowing frequent rest periods during extremely hot weather, say the veterinarians at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Vaccinate For Sleeping Sickness Of Horses Now

Research has shown that the barnyard fowl may act as a reservoir for the virus of horse sleeping sickness transmitted by mosquitoes and other biting insects, according to the department of animal pathology and hygiene of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Because of the unusual prevalence of mosquitoes this year, horse owners who plan to have their animals immunized against the disease are advised not to delay vaccination.

Save milkweed save a life

Farmers who have taken pride in clean fence rows and weed-free fields can take an extra pride in patches of milkweeds this year. The lowly milkweed has gone to war.

Milkweeds may save the lives of the same farm boys who pulled this once pestiferous plant out of their fathers' corn fields a year or two ago. The fibre of floss in the milkweed seed pod—intended by nature to act as seed and parachute to spread the seeds far and wide—is a hollow, air-filled tube with a waxy coating—a midgelet pontoon. Packed into life jackets and life belts these milkweed pontoon-like will keep a man afloat exactly as well as kapok—the material formerly imported from Java for filling life jackets.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has been requested by the War Production board to collect 1,500,000 pounds of milkweed floss this year to meet requirements of the armed forces. Since it takes three years to grow milkweed as a crop, this supply will have to come from wild plants. So the appeal to farmers is: "Save the milkweed and save a life."

Plans have been laid to get a peak harvest of pods from roadside. At the request of the Public Roads administration, state and county highway departments in many states are letting patches of milkweeds along the roads grow until the pods can be picked. Permitting milkweeds to grow until the seed pods mature will not interfere with efforts to control the plant as a weed. It is expected that pickers will make practically a clean sweep of pods along roadsides. The pods are to be harvested for their floss before they break, thus preventing seeds from scattering. School children are being counted on to do most of the pod harvesting. Collection campaigns are being organized in 29 states.

Texas

Pvt. Herbert R. Jackisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jackisch, Golf road, Mt. Prospect, is now stationed at South Plains Army air field at Lubbock, Texas.

Pvt. Jackisch is now taking "on the line" training at SPAAF in starting the routine which will lead to wings as a pilot, bombardier or navigator in the Army air forces.

After completing his training at SPAAF, he will receive pre-flight, primary, basic and advanced flight training at other stations of the great AAF training command which is engaged in the greatest educational program in history.

SPAAF is also the nation's largest glider pilot training center and trains winged commandos troop carrying gliders, in addition in Uncle Sam's giant cargo and to handling air crew trainees.

Home from Camp Fannin, Texas, is Myron Masny of Arlington Heights. Staff Sergeant Masny will return to duty at Fannin July 23rd.

New York

Home on 21 days leave from Brooklyn, New York, is Alvin Brockmann of Palatine. Alvin lived on a farm at Wilke and Rand roads until he entered service. His parents moved to Elkhorn, Wisconsin, about a year ago.

S 2c Brockmann is slated to go aboard a patrol ship as soon as it is ready for service. Until then he is stationed at the coast guard station in Brooklyn.

Alvin arrived home June 23, and is scheduled to return to duty July 13.

Oklahoma

Changing his address at Altus, Okla., is Donald Moberg of Palatine. His new address is Pfc. Donald L. Moberg, 2508th AAF Base Unit, Sect. C, Flight 1, Altus 328 Base Unit, Gulfport AAF, AAF, Altus Oklahoma.

New Guinea

Another short letter from New Guinea comes this week from Pete Skarbovik of Arlington Heights. Pete was raised in Mexico City, Mexico, though he took his junior and senior years in high school at Arlington. He was graduated in 1943, going directly to the army.

"It's summer up home and winter here. It sure is cool here. It gets to the all-time low of 120 in the day, and drops to 73 at night. I hate to think of Chicago's zero weather."

From New Guinea comes work of Herbert "Alan" Reinshagen of Palatine. Herbert sent his two sisters, Carole and Lois, a bracelet made of Australian coins. The bracelet was made by a soldier buddy in New Guinea.

Coins included are 2 3-pence, 2 6-pence, 2 shillings, and 1 florin. They are all 1942 and '43 coins. They are linked together with each coin slightly bent to fit the wrist.

Mississippi

Lt. Elwin Kruse of Wheeling was one of a class of 360 navigators who received their wings Monday, July 3, at Selman Field, Miss. The class was one of the largest group of navigators to graduate in the country.

Elwin is a graduate of Highland Park high school and a Georgia Military College. Because air corps enlistments were closed at the time he began his army training early in '43 with the anti-aircraft he later transferred to the air corps.

Lt. Kruse has been home on a ten-day furlough and will report this week end at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Changing his address at Gulfport, Miss., is Warner Bethke of Palatine. His new address is Pfc. Warren C. Bethke, Sec. U, Box 97, Base Unit, Sect. C, Flight 1, Altus 328 Base Unit, Gulfport AAF, Mississippi.

"I'm perfectly okay and our operation so far has been very successful. I really feel proud of myself to be in on the initial invasion of the continent of Europe and by serving my country in this small way."

"It has been very difficult to write the past week because of the invasion and because of this fact, I didn't want to write for fear of disclosing some small type of information. I think that it was three days before D day, we were restricted to our squadron area and were not permitted to talk to anyone. This included all ground officers and our crews that were going with us. Our ground officers were moved out of the area and our crew chiefs and radio operators didn't know where we were going until we boarded the airplanes for take-off."

Briefings begin
"Briefings began when the restriction started and we were told of the entire operation in general the first day, moving down to the finer points the following two days. By the time of take-off, everyone knew the courses to be followed as well as their own name. This was absolutely necessary because we had specific orders that our 'loads' had to be dropped in France. In case anyone got lost, he had to be able to make the run by himself. One of our pilots did just that."

"Plus the restrictions I have mentioned, we had to march to mess and were kept separated from other officers. Our entire area was guarded 24 hours a day. When we left the area, we were marched under armed guard. Eventually all this paid off, because we caught those jerks with their pants down. It has been announced by supreme headquarters that the element of surprise had been achieved."

"During the three days prior to the invasion, most of the fellows were tense just wondering what it was going to be like over there. Most of us smoked twice as many cigarettes as we normally do. Our morale was very high and still is as far as that goes. I had visions of German fighter planes making suicidal attacks at us and crashing into us if necessary, flak so heavy that a plane couldn't possibly get through and everything else imaginable, but the only thing that we had trouble with was the weather and small arms fire (rifles and machine guns.)"

In first group
"As I mentioned before, I was on the initial invasion. Our squadron led our group and I was the 14th ship in our squadron. As we approached the land, it seemed as though all hell had broken loose. The bombers were doing their work."

"It was still dark when we hit the coast and the Germans sent up flares so they could see us, but they were over 10 miles off, which was too far away to spot us. I thought those jerks would open up on us with everything they had as we passed over the coast but not a shot was fired."

"As I mentioned previously, we caught them with their pants down, but as we approached our drop zone, machine guns opened up. I could see the tracer bullets flying in our vicinity. They couldn't see us and could only fire in the direction from which they heard the roar of our engines. I was pretty scared but it wasn't half as bad as I had expected."

"As soon as we dropped our 'load,' we pushed the throttles full forward and high-tailed it for home. Coming home, it was getting light and we saw thousands of ships in the harbor jockeying in position to open fire on the shore installations. The whole channel was covered with ships."

"We had our planes painted in a certain way (striped) so that our ships would not open fire at us like they did in Italy. We only lost one airplane and that was due to bad weather along the route and not enemy action. We didn't see a German plane."

Back to France
"Less than 27 hours later, I was again in the plane, our destination—France. This was a daylight mission and I got to see what the battlefield looked like. Fighter planes met us at the coast of England and escorted us all the way. It sure was a healthy feeling to see hundreds of those boys circling over head preventing any enemy planes from attacking us."

"Passing over the coast, I could see men and supplies pouring ashore and the concrete installation completely wiped out. About two miles inland, I saw a Frenchman tending his herd of cows waving at us. Quite a contrast, don't you think? The entire countryside was pock-marked from the saturated bombings, especially along the beaches."

"Much to my surprise things seemed very quiet. The only activity I saw inland was a column of tanks moving along a road and yellowing unloading the gliders that had landed. I didn't see any gun fire at all. This sounds strange, but it is absolutely true. Now we are resting up waiting for our next assignment. I didn't get very much sleep the first two days mostly because of excitement and now I am resting up."

"We only lost 1/2 of 1 per cent of our planes (one airplane) which is remarkable taking in consideration the fact that we do not have a gun on our planes."

"JOINS" INVASION HERE AT HOME BY BUILDING GIANT PLANES

Civilian Defense Chief Says Work at Douglas Pleasant Way to Serve Country and Self

Chicago, July 12—The best way to demonstrate good citizenship is by helping our armed forces to win victory at this fateful time in America's history, according to William Beyer, who is practicing his convictions by building the huge C-54 transport planes in the big new Douglas Aircraft plant at Mannheim and Devon, Beyer, now as assembly line foreman at Douglas, an active air-raid warden and zone captain in his off hours, was formerly a well known engraver.

"At this moment when so many of our boys are making the supreme sacrifice on the Invasion Front to bring victory to our cause, I couldn't rest at night if I weren't doing my part too," Beyer said today. "And the best way that I or anyone else can help is by building these huge Douglas combat transport planes which carry men and weapons to the lines and bring wounded back to the base hospitals."

"There's nothing difficult about learning to build airplanes. The Douglas people put you through a training course and you earn while you learn. The work here is very interesting and pleasant. I've never known a more congenial group. We enjoy many special advantages to make us enjoy the job even more—recreation, entertainment, clubs, parties, dances—excellent and inexpensive food—money-saving group insurance and a grand vacation-pay plan. Another thing important to many of us, is the training we're getting in aviation, which is bound to be one of Chicago's basic postwar industries. I can recommend a job at Douglas to any man or woman. When you work here, you're serving your country and yourself," Beyer added.

Simple to Apply
It's easy to apply for a well-paid job at Douglas. Go to one of the branch offices at 4070 Milwaukee Ave. or at 2717 1/2 Milwaukee Ave., open from 9:30 to 7 p.m. Or get information at U. S. E. S. offices at 5306 W. Lawrence Ave., 4207 W. Armitage Ave., 4812 W. Madison, or 807 W. Madison in Oak Park, all open from 9 to 5 week days. Or if convenient come direct to the Douglas plant at Mannheim and Devon Ave. Buses leave from Grand and Harlem, Belmont and 80th, Milwaukee and Devon, Irving Park and Narragansett, Milwaukee and Higgins, Diversey and Harlem, Addison and Cumberland, Higgins and Canfield, and Park Ridge or Des Plaines, Illinois.—Adv.

Pilots troop transport in Normandy invasion

Sending a vivid account of the invasion of France from a troop transport, is Robert Geis of Bensenville. Bob is a pilot of a troop transport in England. His plane was the 14th in line to reach the coast, in advance of the naval bombardment.

"I'm perfectly okay and our operation so far has been very successful. I really feel proud of myself to be in on the initial invasion of the continent of Europe and by serving my country in this small way."

"It has been very difficult to write the past week because of the invasion and because of this fact, I didn't want to write for fear of disclosing some small type of information. I think that it was three days before D day, we were restricted to our squadron area and were not permitted to talk to anyone. This included all ground officers and our crews that were going with us. Our ground officers were moved out of the area and our crew chiefs and radio operators didn't know where we were going until we boarded the airplanes for take-off."

Briefings begin
"Briefings began when the restriction started and we were told of the entire operation in general the first day, moving down to the finer points the following two days. By the time of take-off, everyone knew the courses to be followed as well as their own name. This was absolutely necessary because we had specific orders that our 'loads' had to be dropped in France. In case anyone got lost, he had to be able to make the run by himself. One of our pilots did just that."

"Plus the restrictions I have mentioned, we had to march to mess and were kept separated from other officers. Our entire area was guarded 24 hours a day. When we left the area, we were marched under armed guard. Eventually all this paid off, because we caught those jerks with their pants down. It has been announced by supreme headquarters that the element of surprise had been achieved."

"During the three days prior to the invasion, most of the fellows were tense just wondering what it was going to be like over there. Most of us smoked twice as many cigarettes as we normally do. Our morale was very high and still is as far as that goes. I had visions of German fighter planes making suicidal attacks at us and crashing into us if necessary, flak so heavy that a plane couldn't possibly get through and everything else imaginable, but the only thing that we had trouble with was the weather and small arms fire (rifles and machine guns.)"

In first group
"As I mentioned before, I was on the initial invasion. Our squadron led our group and I was the 14th ship in our squadron. As we approached the land, it seemed as though all hell had broken loose. The bombers were doing their work."

"It was still dark when we hit the coast and the Germans sent up flares so they could see us, but they were over 10 miles off, which was too far away to spot us. I thought those jerks would open up on us with everything they had as we passed over the coast but not a shot was fired."

"As I mentioned previously, we caught them with their pants down, but as we approached our drop zone, machine guns opened up. I could see the tracer bullets flying in our vicinity. They couldn't see us and could only fire in the direction from which they heard the roar of our engines. I was pretty scared but it wasn't half as bad as I had expected."

"As soon as we dropped our 'load,' we pushed the throttles full forward and high-tailed it for home. Coming home, it was getting light and we saw thousands of ships in the harbor jockeying in position to open fire on the shore installations. The whole channel was covered with ships."

"We had our planes painted in a certain way (striped) so that our ships would not open fire at us like they did in Italy. We only lost one airplane and that was due to bad weather along the route and not enemy action. We didn't see a German plane."

Back to France
"Less than 27 hours later, I was again in the plane, our destination—France. This was a daylight mission and I got to see what the battlefield looked like. Fighter planes met us at the coast of England and escorted us all the way. It sure was a healthy feeling to see hundreds of those boys circling over head preventing any enemy planes from attacking us."

"Passing over the coast, I could see men and supplies pouring ashore and the concrete installation completely wiped out. About two miles inland, I saw a Frenchman tending his herd of cows waving at us. Quite a contrast, don't you think? The entire countryside was pock-marked from the saturated bombings, especially along the beaches."

"Much to my surprise things seemed very quiet. The only activity I saw inland was a column of tanks moving along a road and yellowing unloading the gliders that had landed. I didn't see any gun fire at all. This sounds strange, but it is absolutely true. Now we are resting up waiting for our next assignment. I didn't get very much sleep the first two days mostly because of excitement and now I am resting up."

"We only lost 1/2 of 1 per cent of our planes (one airplane) which is remarkable taking in consideration the fact that we do not have a gun on our planes."

Virginia

Home on leave is Bud Hoffman of Arlington Heights. Bud has been stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., where he received his aerial gunner's wings July 5. He surprised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffman, when he walked into the house Saturday morning. Bud entered the service June 20 of last year, taking his boot training at Farragut, Ida. He was then transferred to Norman, Okla., and later Purcell, Okla. Jacksonville was his next stop.

In addition to his gunner's duties

Alabama

Home for 14 days furlough from Camp Rucker, Alabama, is Nick Mayer of Arlington Heights. Nick has been in the service a year, and for the last three months has been stationed at Rucker.

Pvt. Mayer arrived in town Monday afternoon, and is scheduled to return to duty July 24. Edward is a flight engineer. He has been trained on the PBY, navy patrol bomber. He reports July 21 at Norfolk, Va., for further training.

No. Carolina

From Camp Butler, N. C., comes word of Robert Reed of Arlington Heights.

"Our outfit has just returned from a week's bivouac along the banks of the Pee Dee river. This is located near Charlotte, N. C. The weather was fine except the last day when rain poured down. The red dust was quite thick all during our stay."

"I really enjoy the Herald and especially the columns 'With Uncle Sam.' Keep the paper coming."

His address is Pfc. Robert M. Reed, 1611857, Med. Det. 292 Engr (c) Bn., Camp Butler, N. C.

James Weller, son-in-law of Mrs. Wellington Kelsey, Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, who had been in New Caledonia for two years, has returned to the states. He had contracted malaria and was sent home on sick leave. He is now stationed in North Carolina.

MORE With Uncle Sam on 6, 7, 9 and 12

Chicago

Visiting her son, Joe, the past week end at the University of Chicago was Mrs. Harry Smart of Arlington Heights. Occasion was captain's inspection in which everyone of the radio school took part.

Joe is housed in Burton hall, along with 1,000 other sailors attending radio and signal school. The entire group filed from the building in immaculate white, with "men pouring from every door just like one of those movie cartoons."

The men, plus around 1,000 others, formed for inspection on the Midway, in front of the University chapel. Chimes played from time to time, giving a perfect setting. Eleven officers inspected each man while the band played the national anthem and other tunes.

"It was a beautiful ceremony," said Mrs. Smart, "and was well worth the standing in the hot sun for more than an hour. The sight of 2,000 men, dressed in white and standing in perfect formation, is a heart-stirring sight."

Texas

From Camp Hood, Texas, comes word of Jack Goodwin of Palatine.

"I sure would like to have the Enterprise sent to me down here deep in the heart of Texas. I'm stationed with the Tank Destroyers. Our training period which covers 17 weeks is supposed to be one of the toughest in the army."

"One interesting part of our training is that we handle more guns and explosives than any other division. The temperature down here gets as high as 120 during July and August. That's plenty hot for an Illinoisian."

His address is Pvt. Jack Goodwin ASN 36989938, Co. C 130 JDRTC Bn. 2nd Regt., North Camp Hood, Texas.

Michigan

From Michigan State college comes a card from Vernon Sauer of Arlington Heights.

"The campus here is very picturesque. Quite the college. The grub is tops. How about a few letters from some of my friends?"

His address is Pvt. Vernon F. Sauer, 3655th SU, Co. D, Wells Hall, Ward D, East Lansing, Mich.

G. I. club tops in England

The G. I. Club in England is tops. That is the gist of a letter received from Floyd Bauman of Arlington Heights, who is stationed in the British Isles.

"It is most gratifying to me that the time does pass quickly, it's had enough to be away from home but if the time dragged, it would be much worse. Here I am with almost nine months in this theater. But we seem to be making progress all over the world (if you can believe what you read) and maybe it won't be too long until I can be home again."

"Can't quite remember just when I last wrote but I've done some moving again and home that this is the next to the last time, the last naturally being the move toward the States. I floated around for some time, being the air force's problem child, waiting for an assignment. I can say that my curiosity concerning England is satisfied, I've seen enough to last me for my stay."

"I finally learned that an old commanding officer of mine was with this group and he was instrumental in my being assigned here. At the present, I'm proud to say that I am first sergeant of the best bombardment squadron in the ETO. Bar none! This is a darned good outfit with a fine record and I consider myself very fortunate in being a member of it. Quite a coincidence, but this group spent some time at Kearney at the same time I was there, so it isn't like getting acquainted all over again."

Club is tops

"This is also the best station I have yet to be on. A very nice Red Cross club, a fair theatre although a better one is forthcoming, tennis courts are being built, and we have just opened a club for the first three grade non-commissioned officers. I wish that you could see it. It's a beautiful example of GI ingenuity. The front of the bar is made of logs with the bark intact and a coat of varnish covering while the top of the bar is of glass. The motif is old western and someone has done a darned good job of murals depicting early western history."

"Small tables are scattered around the barroom and they are made of scrap lumber and painted. The outlay of cash was very small. Beer, wine, rum, gin, and scotch are served, soda if you like, and best of all, ice. The latter is a scarce item in this country and when it is served in drinks, it becomes a definite luxury. Prices are fair but as profits accumulate will be lowered. The lounge is very nice, upholstered furniture, small writing tables, the room is even complete with a rug on the floor. The game room has pool and ping-pong tables, so there, in a nutshell, is our club."

"Last night an informal opening was held but as soon as we can book a band we will have a gala dedication. My evenings off the post, which have been few and far between will drop to nothing now. With such a place there is no reason to go to town."

"In my travels lately I've run across a lot of fellows I knew back along the line in the Army and some from around home. Two boys from home are right here. In fact, one of them is in my squadron. All of which tends to prove that it is a small world after all."

His address is: 1st Sgt. Floyd Bauman, 16038469, APO 559, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

So. Pacific

From somewhere in the Southwest Pacific comes word of Fred Etteldorf of Palatine.

"We were attacked recently by Jap planes. You should have seen the excitement. One Jap plane blew up into smithereens in mid-air. Two other planes crashed out at sea. Those left over, got away. There was so much shell fire in the sky that I could not see thru it. But, best of all, I'm still kicking. When this all came on, I thought this was going to be the end."

"Boy, do I wish this war will get over with in a hurry. And would I like to be home now. Every once in awhile I run into some fellows from around our vicinity. I'm sure you know where I'm at. I hope, but since I'm on a ship I can get to many different places. Right now I'm flat broke because we didn't get any pay for such a long time. By the way, I'm writing this letter far out at sea, so it might take a long time till it gets to a postoffice."

"Imagine, this Easter went by and I didn't even know it. But there sure is one thing I'm not going to forget Christmas. I believe I will be out here for another Christmas. Not so good, is it? A few days ago I put a hard boiled egg in my locker so when I get hungry I will have some thing to eat. So tonight was the night I wanted to eat it. When I took the shell off it was rotten. What made me so mad was, we get eggs only once every so often, which is a long time. I'll know better next time."

"I have some Jap coins that I will send home. I seem to have a hard time to get clothes out here. If I don't get some soon, I hope not. 'Did I ever tell you one main time they left vet. I made a radio technician, 3/c, this month. That means I repair all the radios on our ship.'"

"Well, I hope this letter is long enough. I tried to tell you every thing I could think of. One main thing left yet. I made a radio technician, 3/c, this month. That means I repair all the radios on our ship."

His address is Fred C. Etteldorf, RT, 3/c, USS LST 454, c/o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

With Uncle Sam

Enlist

Jerome Vranick of Arlington Heights qualified last week for air combat crew training with the Army air forces, according to Capt. F. A. Wilgus, president of the AAF examining board at 166 W. Van Buren street, Chicago.

Young men 17 years old are not called for active training until they are 18. Capt. Wilgus pointed out. Until called to active duty, they serve in the air corps enlisted reserve, and wear a small pair of blue and silver wings upon their civilian clothing.

When called, these young men will first be given "a basic" training. During this period, they will take 'aptitude' tests to determine whether they will be classified for

Pennsylvania

Home for two weeks is Larry Knaack of Arlington Heights. Larry has been stationed at Camp Lee, Va., for some time but will be stationed at Pittsburgh, Pa., when he returns to duty. Pvt. Knaack is scheduled to report about July 20.

training as gunner, bombardier, navigator, or pilot.

After three to seven months, gunners receive silver wings and non-commissioned ratings. Those who qualify for training as pilots, bombardiers, or navigators are commissioned second lieutenants or appointed flight officers, after a year's training.

Use different controls for various insects

The first principles of applying insecticides are: (a) to use the right materials, (b) to mix and prepare them properly, (c) to apply them at the right time, (d) to apply them thoroughly and (e) use safety measures.

In order to use the right material, we must know whether the insect to be controlled has biting-chewing mouth parts or sucking mouth parts. Insects that bite, chew and swallow may be controlled by the use of stomach poisons. Insects having sucking mouth parts may best be controlled by the use of contact insecticides or materials which kill by coming into contact with the bodies of the creatures.

The chief stomach poisons are those containing arsenic and those containing fluorine. The chief arsenicals are Paris green, arsenate of lead and arsenate of calcium. Until a few years ago barium fluosulfate was practically the only fluorine compound used. It was sold under a trade name. During the past few years cryolite, which in its synthetic form is a by-product of some of our war-industries and hence is available in quantity, has come to the front. Chemically cryolite is sodium fluoaluminate. It is sold under several trade names, but most of these names are easy to recognize. Because this material is now available in quantity and some of the other stomach poisons are somewhat limited in supply, our government is asking us to use cryolite wherever possible.

The best known and most widely used contact insecticide is a by-product of tobacco. Chemically it is nicotine sulphate. It is sold under trade names. Pyrethrum comes from a plant of the same name. It is a good contact insecticide, but for the present there is little or none of this material available to the public, as it is being used by our armed forces. The thiocyanates are a group of chemicals having contact insecticide value.

Rotenone, which is an organic chemical, is in a class by itself. It is both a stomach poison and a contact insecticide. Formerly the main source of rotenone was derris, a plant that grows in the East Indies and in the eastern Asiatic mainland. This source is, of course, completely cut off. The present source of rotenone is cuba, a plant that grows in South America and Central America. The supply of this is very limited.

Safety in spraying consists of the careful avoidance of any toxic residue upon the edible portion of the plant. Arsenical sprays which are very effective must never be used on the edible portion of plants. We may use them on cabbage before the heads have begun to form and we may use them on beans before the pods have been made but they should not be used after the cabbage head has begun to form or the beans have made their pods. Cryolite, although not nearly so toxic to man as are the arsenicals, must nevertheless not be used on the edible portion of plants. Here is another great advantage of rotenone. When the application of an insecticide must be made to the edible portion of the plant, then rotenone and rotenone only should be used. Our government is asking us to use the small amount of rotenone which we have available for this purpose.

"Grow more in '44."

Present ceiling prices on many vegetables

The following information regarding ceiling prices for fresh vegetables as applied to the vegetable growers has recently been released by Porter R. Taylor, general manager of the Cooperative Fruit and Vegetable association, Washington, D. C.

The new ceiling prices for onions in 50 lb. bags as announced by the OPA are as follows for Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky:

July 15 to August 15, $1.95.
August 16 to October 31, $1.70.
November and December, $1.95.
January, $2.10.
February, $2.25.
March, $2.40.
April and after, $2.55.

The new ceilings like those for early 1944 onions eliminate the requirement that onions be graded and do away with payment of a premium for higher grades.

Ceilings for snap beans and spinach have already expired and those for peppers and eggplant will expire on July 15. In addition, plans for developing ceilings for tomatoes, celery, lima beans and cauliflower have been given up insofar as the 1944 crop is concerned.

The ceiling on cucumbers, except hot house cucumbers, in bushel containers with a net weight of 48 pounds or more is $2.00 until September 30.

A new order has just been issued for cabbage which will be on the basis of about $53.00 per ton delivered to the wholesale market.

Farm machine rent schedule

The following prices have been worked out by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers as a fair price for rental of farm machinery exclusive of operators wages (if owner operates on another farm), excessive breakage, sharpening, twine, fuel, oil, etc. which should be added or borne by renter.

These basic charges are bare costs of operation, and a fair charge could be made when the owner does not operate the machine, or the machines are operated under unusual condition, etc.

Basic rental rate per hour per $100 of new cost.

Exhibit Douglas plane at 'world's busiest corner'

With the nose section of a Douglas, Chicago built, C-54 Skymaster the magnet of attraction, one of Chicago's most spectacular exhibits has been opened in the State-Madison corner window of Mandel Bros.' store in the downtown loop. Visitors are invited to inspect the plane's cockpit and instrument panel.

Made possible through the co-operation of the management of Mandel's and the Douglas Chicago plant, the exhibit gives impetus to a WAC recruiting drive. The display is staffed by twelve members of the WAC's to advise applicants and to explain details of the Skymaster exhibit.

To make possible the display, Mandel Bros. removed the converging ground floor windows at the intersection of the two busy thoroughfares. The Skymaster's nose is so huge that it protrudes out on to the State St. sidewalk, rising seventeen feet above the ground. Visitors enter from State St., walk up a circular stairway to view the plane, and then descending, find themselves in the Air WAC information center on the Madison St. side.

Hawaii

Word was received from Sgt. Ray C. Pomplun of Arlington Heights, in the Marine Corps, that he is in a naval hospital somewhere in Hawaii, with his left leg under medical care, thanking God he came back alive.

As he said the "yellow Devils were plenty tough but the Leather-necks gave 'em hell, just what they were asking for."

At a time like this mail is about the only medicine for the wounded. His address is Sgt. Raymond C. Pomplun, U. S. Naval Hospital 128 1/2 Fleet Postoffice, San Francisco, Calif.

Maryland

Returning to Bainbridge, Maryland, Tuesday was George Pfingsten of Arlington Heights. George entered the navy June 5 of this year and had just completed his boot training when he came home July 4. EM 1c Pfingsten has reported to Bainbridge, but expects to be transferred elsewhere immediately.

L. O. K.

LOK is all we can say about Jack Wright of Arlington Heights. Jack had been taking Navy air corps training for a year at Lambert field, Mo., when he was given an honorable discharge. He immediately signed up for the merchant marine.

After three days at home Jack reported Sunday to St. Louis. His present whereabouts are not known.

Ralph Windheim, seaman second class, of Arlington Heights was graduated on the 27th of June from the radio school at Bedford Springs, Pa. Ralph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Windheim of 209 S. Evergreen.

His new address is: Ralph A. Windheim, S2C, RM, USNR, c/o FPO, New York, N. Y.

Changing his address at LOK is Robert Koch of Palatine. His new address is Pfc. Robert E. Koch, 36657644, APO 198, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Now LOK and out of the country is Roger Hertel of Arlington Heights. His new address is S/ Sgt. Roger Hertel, 36317564, APO 15377, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

Italy

Walter Jollie of Prospect Heights wrote that he recently had a day off and spent it in Rome. That is the first time that his parents have known his exact location since he went into service.

England

Word received from England this week tells of Robert Williams of Roselle promotion to the rank of captain June 17. He received his commission as a 2nd Lieutenant in February, 1943, at the Officer Candidate School of Engineering at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia, and was promoted to 1st Lieutenant in August of the same year.

Before going overseas he was stationed at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, and Camp Breckenridge, Kentucky. Captain Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Williams of Wauconda. His wife, the former Roberta Peterson, is residing with her parents in Roselle for the duration.

His address is Capt. Robert M. Williams, 0-1110347, APO 403, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

Controlling traffic at an air-drome where planes are constantly arriving and taking off is no small task—especially in a theater of operations where many factors, such as giving landing priorities to battle-damaged aircraft or planes with wounded aboard must be given consideration.

Controlling such traffic at this B-17 Flying Fortress station is the responsibility of First Lt. Jim Henry, of Mt. Prospect, who, as a flying control officer, is also responsible for the routing of aircraft on the field.

Lieutenant Henry, a veteran of 15 months in the European Theater of Operations, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Henry, of 312 East Forrest Avenue, Marengo. His wife, Mrs. Marjorie Henry, lives at 111 Prospect Manor, Mt. Prospect.

Lieutenant Henry attended the University of Illinois and before entering the Army in March, 1942, was employed as a sales representative by the Herff-Jones Company, of Chicago.

Puerto Rico

Home from Puerto Rico for 20 days is Jack Maloney of Arlington Heights. Jack has served in Puerto Rico the last 28 months, though he was home last September. He was engaged in photography work for the navy.

"We photographed about everything in sight. Defenses and defense construction, patrol duty, and reconnaissance were our main jobs as we flew about the island, also covering a good many miles at sea. We saw plenty of water and plenty of the island in those 28 months."

"Puerto Rico is strictly a modern island with all the latest modes of travel. Best thing about the transportation, there was plenty of it. You always got a seat and there were plenty of buses."

"One thing that stood out there was the way they drove. Everyone drove fast and reckless, including the bus drivers. That was the only place I ever saw buses race each other for passengers."

"The island is about 37 miles by 100 miles and lies in both the Caribbean sea and Atlantic ocean. We were stationed at San Juan, a large modern city that had plenty of entertainment to offer."

Photographers made second class Maloney is scheduled to report to Norfolk, Virginia, July 27, for further assignment. He doesn't know where they will send him, but he knows it won't be back to Puerto Rico.

Ireland

Expected home in August is Harry Smart, Jr., of Arlington Heights. Harry has been stationed in Ireland with the Navy for many months and wrote this week that he "hoped to be home before the pool closed. August always seems to be my lucky month." It may be noted that the last time he was home was in August of last year.

New Jersey

Home on furlough for 14 days from Fort Dix, N. J., is Milton Bohm of Mt. Prospect. He arrived home Saturday night and is scheduled to return July 21.

T/Sgt. Bohm has been at Dix six months, and expects to remain there in the future. All of his time there has been spent in training and maneuvers. He is stationed with a signal battalion.

Ph Mate George Stange back from New Britain

Now home on 30 days furlough is George Stange of Palatine. George has been away from home for two years, serving in the South Pacific area attached to the Marines, though a Navy man. His latest station has been on New Britain island.

George entered the Navy long before the war came to this country, signing up in February, 1939. He immediately underwent boot training. He was later given aptitude tests and sent off to medical schools. At the present time he is chief pharmacist's mate.

About two years ago George was attached to the Marines. Prior to that time he had been undergoing training. Part of the time was spent aboard ship. In August of '42 he landed in Guadalcanal and the following Christmas day participated in the initial invasion at Gloucester Bay, New Britain.

"A pharmacist's job has changed a lot with the coming of war," says George. "In peacetime you were trained to cope with wounds but about all the practical training you got along those lines was when someone would be hurt in an accident. Most of our cases were for common, ordinary ills."

No halfway cases

"Naturally, when war broke our job took on added importance. I came face to face with all the horrors of war. Funny thing, though, it isn't as bad as it is played up to be. Cases brought in are never halfway; either they're so far gone there is practically no hope, or they are so injured that death is improbable."

"A medical corps gets used to blood in a hurry. Where a man has been trained over and over to deal with spurting blood, for instance, you rarely run across such cases. Perhaps that is the best idea of preparedness, in case the worst does happen."

"All medical corpsmen are specialists in some field of medicine. Some are noted for surgery and it is these types that have broken into the news the last couple of years with regard to giving operations on submarines and other ships. Such men have had experience in regular navy hospitals, and believe me, that is the best pre-med training there is. Have even heard of corpsmen delivering babies in emergencies. There isn't much training of that type, however, in navy hospitals."

Blood plasma

"Of course, the pharmacist's mate's best friend is blood plasma. Everyone knows the old way of blood transfusion; typing the blood, typing possible donors, finding the right blood, and then hoping your calculations were right and that the blood would mix and not kill the patient."

"With the advent of war came blood plasma. There is no such thing as types of blood. The plasma will mix for anyone. The plasma kits are packed seven to a unit. Each kit is about 10x8x4 inches. Everything is hermetically sealed and sterilized."

"The plasma is in two bottles, one for the powder, the other for distilled water. Needles are pricked into each bottle with the vacuum in the small, plasma bottle pulling the water into it from the other bottle. The plasma boils at first just like a chocolate soda. The tube and needle to inject into the arm are also included in the kit, with everything sterilized. Naturally, no equipment is used twice."

"Many times as much as three or more kits are used for one man. The plasma is good for everything, including shock. In such case various organs are usually 'frozen.' The added blood brings those organs into action."

At Guadalcanal

"We spent five months on Guadalcanal, staying until about all Japs had been cleared from the island. We were under Jap navy bombardment at one time for three days. Those shells were coming plenty close and did plenty of damage. On my recent trip home, however, we stopped at Guadalcanal, and I hardly recognized the place. The way it was now 'civilized' is a wonder. There were regular cities there. Quite a difference from two years ago."

"We moved into Cape Gloucester Christmas day. Naval bombardment had preceded our landing, wiping out much of the resistance. It wasn't easy, however, though lighter than we had expected. We were plenty busy and didn't have much time to think about what was going on around us."

"We treated a few Jap prisoners. Some of them spoke English. They were all either very sullen or polite. Some of them would keep prisoner is better than a dead one. Much valuable information has been gained from Japs who talked while interned."

Souvenir flag

"I was able to get a Jap flag for a souvenir from one of them. It seems almost every Jap carries a flag with the names of his officers and places he's been written on them. Americans like these for souvenirs and hardly any Japs get to keep their flags."

"The Enterprise usually followed me around wherever I went. I imagine I got about two-thirds of them, which isn't a bad average considering the distance they had to travel. It was always good to get them."

George didn't mention it, but our files tell us he received a citation some time back from Admiral Halsey for his work on Guadalcanal. The citation speaks of the extraordinary attention to duty paid by George while in the line of fire and in the front lines in Tenau river territory of Guadalcanal island.

George arrived home the 29th of June and is scheduled to report back to San Francisco July 28.

France

Another man now stationed in France is Eugene Kelly of Palatine.

"Another summer is here, and this one finds me in France. Day before yesterday started my fourth year in the army. Time surely rolls along."

"The section we are in is very much like our own middle west. The trees and crops, excepting corn, are the same. The weather is a lot colder. This is the first summer that I ever wore woolen underclothes."

"I am with a battery these days and getting along O. K. So far, Jerry hasn't quite got the range on me, or our guns."

"Still haven't seen an Enterprise since I left Fort Meade."

"I wish now that I had paid more attention to Miss Heise (French instructor at Palatine high school)."

His address is Lt. Francis E. Kelly, 1105409, APO 2, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

Now in France is William Buesing of Mt. Prospect.

"Hi, good old U. S. A.: Well, I am now in France. Arrived safely and am getting along fine."

"Will have to study up on my French a little so that I can have a conversation with the people around here. Then again I think it's too much of a tongue twister and that I will never get the best of it."

"The climate is about the same as it was in England and the scenery too. The farmers out here when they milk the cows do it different than we at home. They milk the cows right in the pasture you know, talk to a cow and while she's listening sneak up and take the milk from her. Also am getting quite a bit of it myself to drink."

"Right now would like a few dishes of strawberries."

His address is: Pvt. Wm. J. Buesing, 36396381, APO 230, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

Another letter from France this week hails from Jim Douglass of Arlington Heights. Jim entered the service in November, 1942, and has been stationed with the signal corps in England for a year. He is the brother of Mrs. H. S. Olson of Arlington.

"Here I am in France. Am in the best of health. Haven't seen much of France as yet but presume I will as we move along. We are living in dugouts and they are quite damp. Will write more later."

His address is Robert J. Douglass, 36396329, APO 305, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

Duke Kopplin of Arlington Heights writes this week from France.

"Am writing this from a fox-hole. We have seen action already being one of the first groups to get into France. Everything is going smoothly so far. Hope it keeps up and we can get home soon."

"Ran into Lt. Ed Dearie of Stonegate, and Capt. John Sieks from Wheeling a while back. We had quite a chat. I saw each of them at separate times, so I don't think they saw each other."

"Glad to see Otto Masny won the DSC in France."

His address is 1st Lt. W. E. Kopplin, 0-1103268, APO 2, c/o PM, New York, N. Y.

Another local man serving with the navy in the original assault forces at Normandy was Quentin Skoulund of Bensenville. Quentin is a hospital apprentice first class aboard ship. Quentin had already seen considerable action in the North Atlantic.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Skoulund of Bensenville. Before joining the navy Quentin worked at the Bensenville pharmacy. He graduated from Bensenville high school in '43.

Another local man now in France is Roy Almdale of Prospect Heights. He was formerly stationed in England.

Admiralty

From the Admiralty Islands comes work from Richard Taege of Arlington Heights.

"Am still in the pink of condition and getting along swell in my new assignment. I'm playing a little ball since I arrived. It's the first I've played since Hank Gaare refused to let me sign a 1942 contract way back in 1942."

"See where Mel Laseke is somewhere in New Guinea. Sure would like to see him some time."

His address is S/Sgt. Richard H. Taege, 36302251, APO 201, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Florida

Now home on furlough from Kingman, Ariz., is Bill Gage of Bensenville, Ill. Bill is a gunner on a B-17 and is in the process of transfer to Tampa, Fla., for further training. He expects to be at Tampa about a month, and then move on to another field.

Bill arrived home Sunday evening and is scheduled to report to Tampa July 21. He has been in the service seven months.

Private Charles Daggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Daggett of 213 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, landed at Camp Blanding, Fla., on July 1. He was recently inducted at Fort Sheridan.

Back the Invasion Forces by Building Aircraft

SERVE YOUR COUNTRY—Men, women, young people, discharged service men, housewives... If you are in doubt about where to work, patriotism alone would be sufficient reason for you to seek a job in the big new Chicago plant of Douglas Aircraft. The huge Douglas combat transport planes which you can help to build are the lifeblood of your country's invasion effort. By assisting in the production of them now, you are doing your part at a fateful time in America's history.

SERVE YOURSELF—You serve yourself as well as your country when you join forces with the other Douglas workers building airplanes. The pay is excellent and the work is pleasant and interesting. There's a thrill in seeing the giant planes roll off the assembly line and realize that your hands helped provide these tools of victory for our armed forces. You work among congenial people in a brand new plant with new equipment. And you enjoy many special advantages... recreational opportunities such as dances, entertainment, sports, clubs and parties. Food in the plant restaurant is excellent and inexpensive. Money-saving group-insurance is available. And there is a free housing service for you if you wish it... as well as a "Share the Ride" program. No experience is needed to work at Douglas. You are put through a training course which will teach you all you need to know to work on the airships and you earn good pay while you learn. And you will become skilled in aviation, one of the great basic industries of the future.
